

Turgleder's Environment fund

Purpose.

Turgleder's environment fund was established in 2005 as part of establishing the nature based tourism enterprise Turgleder DA.

The purpose of the fund is to contribute to conservation of local environment and historical cultural values (and traditions), primarily in the areas affected by Turgleders activities. The purpose is also to contribute to increased knowledge about Norwegian nature and about Norwegian and Sami culture and history. The fund will also contribute to other good local environmental projects.

Organising and financing.

The fund is owned by Turgleder DA and is managed by the entrepreneurs and employees/guides of Turgleder DA. The same persons are also the fund's board.

The fund is financed by donating 2% of Turgleder's entire turnover concerned with the enterprise's activities in the outdoors and surrounding cultural history. The fund also accepts financial donations.

The board will each year before new year decide the total amount of money to be donated over the coming year. In the case of budget finances not being donated, the finances will be transferred back to the fund and so be part of the fund's financial foundation for the next year's donations.

How to apply for finances.

Anyone can apply for contributions.

Contributions must go to good environment and/or cultural projects and/or to the increased knowledge about Norwegian nature and/or Norwegian or Sami cultural history. There are no application deadlines and the applications will be treated continuously by the board. There are no upper or lower limits for the size of the applications.

To be considered the application must contain a project plan describing the expected result of the project, a timeline and details about how the finances will be spent.

Contributions from Turgleder's environment fund are not to be used for covering salary or any other benefits to any person.

After the project is finished, a written report with a budget must be presented to the fund's board.
